The white race of Mexico is of Spanish descent and has the characteristics common to other Spnnish-American creoles, according to a writer in the Encyclopedia Britanulca. Their political record previous to the Presidency of Porticlo Diaz' was one of lucessant revolutionary strife. In which the blie, unsettled half-breeds took willing part. The Indian element in the population is made up of several distinct racesthe Aztec. or Mexican: Mistecn-Zapoteca; Mayo, or Yucafeco; Otoml, or Othomi, and in smaller number the Totonac, Tarasco, Apache, Matlanzingo, Chontal, Mixe, Zoque, Guaicuro, Opata-Plma, Tapijulapa, Seri and Huavl. In 1864 Don Mannel Orozco y Herra found fifty-one distinct languages and sixty-nine diulects' among the Indian inhabltnnts of Mexico.

The Aztecs, who called themselves Mejica, or Mexicans, belong to a very large family of tribes spenking a common idlom called Nahua. THE RECRUITING POINT

Lexington, Ky., Aprli 26 .-- Gen. Roger Williams and Adj. Gen. James Tandy Eilis said to-night that Lexington would be the mobilization point for the Kentucky troops if volunteers were called for, despite reports given Saturday that Fort Thomas had been selected for that purpose, it develops that Fort Thomas will be the rendezvous for sensoned mi-Iltla to be sent immediately into service but the volunteers will be mobilized here and given, a period of training before being permitted to go to the front.

Capt. Ethelbert D. Breckenridge, brother of the Assistant Secretary of War, and himself a United States nrmy officer, also corrected the statement that Lexington had jost out, in an interview with the Herald correspondent.
